RABBI IRWIN WIENER, D.D.

This Year, May There Be Goodness In Life

A group of citizens in a small town was busily engaged in digging a foundation for a new House of Worship when a disturbing thought occurred to one of the laborers. "What are we going to do with all the earth we are digging up? We certainly can't leave it here."

There was much discussion – suggestions were flying here and there.

Suddenly one of the men smiled and held up his hand and said, "We will make a deep pit and shovel all the dirt into it." Everyone applauded except one man who asked, "What will we do with the earth from the pit?"

Silence – and more thinking. And then finally another man raised his hand and said, "We'll dig another pit and into that pit we will shovel all the earth we're digging now together with all the earth from the first pit with one addition – we will make the second pit much larger to accommodate all the earth from the House of Worship and the first pit."

Sometimes life is like that – we go from crisis to crisis, never thinking about the goodness in our lives. We just dig pit after pit, an endless cycle of despair.

And then there is the story of the man carrying a heavy load of wood and the load just keeps getting heavier and heavier until finally, in desperation, he puts the load down and cries out for the angel of death to come and take him so that he would no longer have to carry this heavy load. The angel of death hears the lament and appears and asks what the man wants from him. To which the man replies, "Could you please put the load back on my shoulders?"

Sometimes it appears that the trials of life are too much for us. We think about how simple it would be if it was all over. But then we remember that life has more than burdens; life has good things like births and anniversaries and celebrations of one kind or another. When we weigh the good and the bad, we realize that the good outweighs the bad and life is just great.

What we say – what we do – can result in happiness or sadness. We control how our lives are lived in great measure.

Sometimes life is so simple, and we make it so difficult. Sometimes we create issues and incidents that tend to make life a chore. We can, if we will, make these the best years of our lives. We can all come in from the cold because life is too short to be so unhappy, and these years – the ones that lie ahead of us – can be rewarding and fulfilling if we try to make things easy for ourselves.

Here we are entering a New Year. Perhaps we should reflect on the goodness in each other. We should awake each day and look around. Life can be as simple as we like with just a little effort and gratitude.

As we enter the Chapel on Friday, January 16 let us join in and show our gratitude to the men and women who determined that the future of our lives and those of the community around us can be achieved through a willingness to serve. As they are installed, let's congratulate them and encourage them for the sacrifices made on our behalf. We all benefit from their hard work.

SOMETHING YOU MIGHT NOT KNOW

“Doc”

By Murray Siegel

A main character on the medical drama “Doc” is Dr. Jake Heller, who is Jewish, yet is portrayed by Jon-Michael Ecker, who is not Jewish. Jake wears a chai to let everyone know that he is Jewish. Last spring, during Passover, Jake brought a container of charoset to eat at night. The focus of the November 25 episode, entitled “Kaddish,” was the funeral for Jake’s father, who had proclaimed he might be the only Jewish father who was not proud that his son was a physician. He hoped that Jake would be a professional athlete. During the funeral, all in attendance said the Mourner’s Kaddish, including hospital staff who are not Jewish. At the gathering after the funeral, it was suggested to non-Jewish visitors that they should bring food rather than flowers.

Of course, there is a love interest to confuse Jake’s world. The main character, Dr. Amy Larsen, had an automobile accident that caused her to lose her memories for the last eight years. Before the accident, Amy was Jake’s supervisor and they were engaged in a torrid love affair. After the accident, she did not remember the affair. Now he is her supervisor and the affair seem to be heating up tenuously. There have been numerous Jewish physicians on television dramas, yet Jake seems the most human, a caring, competent doctor, who is proud to be Jewish, with a challenging personal life.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

SHELLY HENDEN

Happy New Year

Happy New Year. Let us pray for peace around the world and hope for a bright future ahead.

Some very exciting news to relate to you. After many hours, days and months, our wonderful Cantor, Ronda Polesky is being ordained as a hazan on the second Friday of January, so we will be moving the January monthly service to the third Friday, January 16, when we will celebrate Ronda and install the incoming Board Members. Thank you to the Men's Club which is sponsoring the oneg this month where we will continue to celebrate Ronda.

And guess what?! I am finally going to have a Vice President, Barbara Ganz. I am so thrilled that she is on board to share some of my responsibilities.

Don't forget our dining out fundraiser on Monday, January 5 at the Black Bear from 6-9 pm. So go have dinner and help fundraising for the congregation. (See page 12 for details.) Also, thank you to all of you that support our funds that helps keep our congregation going.

A call out to anyone that might be interested in being a Gabbi at our monthly services. We can explain to you and show you what the responsibilities are. Believe me, it's not hard to learn and it's a beautiful way to be a part of our services.

And a final reminder: it's not too late to make your Arizona state tax donation to the JCC. See the information in the article in this issue of the Shpiel

As always, I am here for you. Be safe, and from our family to yours a happy and healthy New Year. 🎉

SLJC SISTERHOOD

Next Event: Thursday, January 15, 1 pm, Chapel Center

The next meeting will take place on Thursday, January 15 at 1 pm in the Chapel House. Our speaker will be Kathi Agins, a former educator turned gourd artist. She will discuss how gourds evolved into beautiful works of art from culturally rich primitive cultures. She will bring samples of her work. Kathi also specializes in creating masks in the style of Southwest Native American art and in the cubist Picasso style. Many items will be available for purchase by check or cash.

On Monday, February 23, we will gather for our Games Galore Day. This annual charity event will take place at Oakwood Country Club in Sun Lakes at 10 am. Bring your friends or come alone to meet new ones to play your favorite games: Mah Jongg, Canasta, Bridge, Scrabble, Mexican Train, or any other game. We will have a delicious buffet lunch with a new menu, our signature gift baskets, cash raffle, Dine-Around gift cards, and our Bake Sale. All proceeds go to local charities. For reservations or questions, please email Doris at rondor55@gmail.com or fill out the registration flyer on page 8 in this issue of the Shpiel.

For LAFF's Original HYSTERICALLY FUNNY
MUSICAL COMEDY!

JEWISH WAR VETERANS COPPER STATE POST 619

EMERGENCY FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE OFFERED TO VETERANS

Sunday, January 18, 9:30 am, Ballroom A, Oakwood Country Club, 24218 S. Oakwood Blvd., Sun Lakes

Financial assistance is based on needs that arise from financial hardships faced when a veteran's immediate family is experiencing a dramatic life change including job loss, medical emergency, facing multiple deployments, a member killed in action, or suffering from injuries received in the line of duty.

For the past 17 years, Helping Hands for Freedom's mission is to provide EMERGENCY financial assistance to keep the family in their home. This includes the veteran, spouse, or Gold Star family member asking for assistance with rent/mortgage, insurance, vehicle, and utility payments.

Gold Star families are those surviving family members of a fallen soldier, along with veterans who suffer from PTSD. Emergency financial assistance is offered to military families with at least one child 18 or under currently living at home. "In the past 10 years, we have raised just over $4,000,000 to provide the help these families need," states Eric Snelz. More than 200 requests for help are received monthly.

Life Enrichment experiences for children, parents and spouses includes lunches for Gold Star spouses and mothers, and attendance at sports events, amusement parks, wildlife parks and other entertainment options.

Eric Snelz joined the HHFF board in 2012 and became CEO/Executive Director in 2017. His interest in Helping Hands for Freedom was fueled by his son's experience as a United States Marine who served two tours in Afghanistan in 2010 and 2011. His son returned with a traumatic brain injury and PTSD, which exposed Eric to the difficulties and challenges experienced by returning veterans and their families. His service as a board member connected him with Gold Star families who had suffered the loss of a loved one because of combat or post service suicide.

Eric, with decades of experience in marketing and sales, has worked in corporate America with a Fortune 500 company as well as recent entrepreneurial ventures. As the CEO of HHFF, he brings his expertise in marketing and the digital arena to increase awareness of the families of the fallen, wounded, and deployed. In 2015, Helping Hands for Freedom received the Lincoln Award at the Southwest Veterans' Chamber of Commerce's Patriots' Ball in Tempe, Arizona. This award is presented to a veterans' advocacy organization making outstanding contributions and supporting military families.

△ Eric Snelz, CEO Helping Hands for Freedom and Jewish War Veterans Post 619, invites the community to learn how veterans in need can receive emergency funds to help with household payments. Anyone interested in learning about how to help veterans is welcome to all JWV meetings. Membership is not required.

Eric is the recipient of the Mark Ashby Civilian Service Award for service to the military and veteran community. He has also received an award from MOPH (Military Order of the Purple Heart for Exemplary Service to Veterans) In 2015.

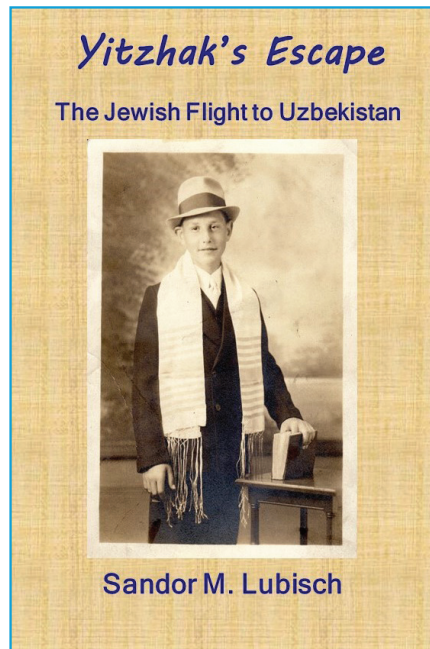

JWV Post 619, which meets the third Sunday of every month from September to June, boasts members who represent a wide range of religious affiliations and participates in philanthropic activities to help veterans of all faiths.
