Pekuah Nefesh - The Saving of Lives

Our religious year is filled with uncertainty.

Another Passover holiday has passed, a time for families to gather and celebrate freedom and other events that have changed our lives forever. Etched in our collective memories are horrible scenes of death and destruction. But we also carry thoughts of bravery and unity that is the fabric of American society.

Our efforts have been directed toward our brave men and women who serve this great country. Our energies have been devoted to atrocities and disasters that seem to challenge our thoughts of kindness and benevolence. Our collective prayers have etched there way to the Creator for reconciliation and consolation. Still we cannot help but ask why?

It is the wrong question. The question should be how? How can we, humanity, come together and bring comfort and aid? This was, and remains, the purpose of creation: to work together to support the efforts of the community of humankind so that we can live together in peace and satisfaction.

We poured out our hearts and supported the needs with our resources as never before. And that is as it should be. Now we must direct our attention, once more, to local needs and how much more is required to build a society more harmonious and caring, a society that is dedicated to life.

Recently we witnessed also the devotion of men and women who give of themselves for the betterment of others. Such is the quality of the members of Post 619, Jewish War Veterans. They know only too well what it means to suffer the untold horrors of forgetting – forgetting our men and women who serve all of us without regard for reward.

Adrian Bendick and Nancy Stutman chaired the twenty-five year anniversary celebration of Post 619. Their efforts and those of their committee of volunteers demonstrated the value placed on the lives of all who answered the call to defend our freedoms. Everyone in attendance learned first hand what we knew, but never boast or brag about – every person, regardless of color, creed, religious belief, or gender, are all brothers and sisters of the One God who shaped us all.

Yes, all should be proud of the work of these gentle, kind, and endearing souls who join together to save lives.

Rabbi Irwin Wiener, D.D.

To mourn, to remember, to rejoice

Yom Hashoah

The German Jewish political theorist, Hannah Arendt (1906-1975), wrote during the trial of Adolph Eichmann in Israel: “It was as though in those last minutes he (Eichmann) was summing up the lessons that this long course in human wickedness had taught us – the lesson of the fearsome, word-and-thought-defying banality of evil.” Perhaps she actually compacted into one sentence the sum total of what the Holocaust was and remains in most memories until this very moment in time. Will that be the legacy that will be inherited by the future generations of the unconcerned?

Much has been said, written, and depicted about the Holocaust. We continually say that we can never fully describe the death and destruction because to some it was just as Eichmann thought, an incidental happening, something that was not out of the ordinary. It is this kind of evil that trivializes, and even glamorizes murder on such a large scale.

And yet, here we are, commemorating the anniversary of such an atrocity. Human minds can't fully comprehend the mindless torture of people because we want to forget. We mark the day with solemn utterances and, in Israel, the sirens sound and the shrillness of that cadence gives us time to reflect. But then, once the siren has ended its call to remembrance, we continue with everyday living.

That exercise of continuity doesn't diminish the loss but rather enables us to continue with life because that is the essence of their sacrifice. We cannot just die but rather live to not only remember but to inform and remind. This is our solemn obligation and its fulfillment destroys the Eichmann's of the world as they attempt to minimize and even deny the actuality of the horror.

Today we are witnessing a return to the civilized becoming the beasts. The Haman of today sits in a corner of the world that gave birth to civilization as we know it and displays a disdain for the very enlightenment that elevated us from the depths of depravity to the heights of morality. How is this possible?

The answer can be found in one word: Indifference. The world does not want to concentrate on such iniquity. Life is too short to focus on bad things. Therefore people of good will ignore the hurt and settle on ignoring the truth. It is a sad commentary about society and could even be a motivation for attempting a repeat of such cruelty and dehumanization.

Golda Meir was quoted as saying: "There is no difference between one's killing and making decisions that will send others to kill. It's exactly the same thing, or even worse." Denying truth and even ignoring it, to me, is tantamount to participating in the deed. Turning a blind eye to tragedy makes us accomplices.

The Holocaust will remain a symbol of man's inhumanity to man for eternity. The remembrance of the Holocaust will ensure that future generations will understand the darkness that enveloped the Earth and the depths to which we are capable of descending. We have met Satan and Satan is us!

How can this chapter ever be closed? There will never be closure because that would desecrate the memory of those who perished, who have no one to remember their existence. We are committed to immortalizing their memories so that their souls will remain bound up in a common bond of weeping that will forever be heard around the world and beyond.

Yom Hazikaron/HaAtzmaut

We learn in Pesikta Buber: "He who defends Israel is uplifted by God."

The sacrifices made by the men and women who serve in the Israel military are doing just that. Make no mistake – the survival of the Jewish People rests with the brave defenders of the land. Each and every Israeli understands that to lose one war is equivalent to losing it all. Each day they are thrust into harm's way because of the dangers that exist in their corner of the world.

I have seen their dedication and devotion. I have seen their willingness to put their lives on the line to continue the dream that was dormant for so many millennia and was realized in our time. They dream and they laugh and they love and at the same time understand that to be able to do all these things requires vigilance and determination.

Their zeal is recognized by their countrymen each year as a time devoted to the memory of those who have fallen in their defense. It is the ultimate gesture of gratitude.

And as Golda Meir also said: "We Jews have a secret weapon in our struggle with the Arabs: we have no place to go." Each and every man woman and child understands this and therefore is ready and willing to give their utmost to the country carved out of a barren wasteland and formed into a thriving re-birth of a People.

Immediately following this solemn moment we rejoice in our renewal. The longing of the ages has been fulfilled. We are home. We are in Eretz Yisrael. The land of our deliverance and redemption.

David Ben Gurion was fond of saying the State of Israel will prove itself not by material wealth, not by military might or technical achievement, but by its moral character and human values. Idealism at its best. But the reality is that Israel has done all these things and more.

Israel has shown the world that its determination and fortitude enabled it to grow and flourish and enhance the life of all humanity through its technological achievements and its military prowess. It has helped the world understand that contributions to science and industry have advanced life giving us the ability to reap the rewards of God's benevolence. The People of Israel did and continue to do all that even as it lives through danger from outside forces.

Perhaps the words of Chaim Potok summarizes the aspirations of a People who have survived untold tragedies and unimaginable horrors: "My father often spoke in military terms: the Jews were the vanguard of mankind, the reconnaissance troops, and therefore prone to taking the highest casualties. But we would succeed one day in establishing the Kingdom of God on earth. Of that he had no doubt."

Rabbi Irwin Wiener, D.D.

President's Message

A few years ago, the Board of Directors established a succession plan to include an executive vice president who would be groomed to take on the presidency in due course. As you remember, Mark Nelinson, who was our executive vice president and was slated to become president of the congregation next January, died this past December. Since then, the BOD has been functioning with a capable but smaller executive board, and with no executive vice president.

In thinking about developing future leadership, we realized that we were limiting ourselves to full time residents and members. In other words, we were not really considering any snowbirds for leadership roles. However, when we looked at other organizations within our own congregation (Sisterhood, for example), we realized that co-presidents who work well together really reduce the responsibility and trepidation that may accompany anyone willing to step up to a leadership role.

In that spirit, the BOD is proposing new language to the Bylaws of SLJC that specifically allows for the possibility of co-presidents of the temple. Only one of the two would need to be in residence at a time, thus opening up the hope that some of you who are only here for a portion of the year would consider sharing a leadership role with someone who may be able to preside during your absence, and vice versa. There are some specific conditions that are included in the wording, but the gist is that only one co-president can vote at a time, two members of the same household cannot become co-presidents, dispute resolution remedies are included, etc.

The specific wording of this bylaws change is included in The Shpiel and will also be sent to you online. Please read it carefully and cast your vote yea or nay. (E-mail voting is acceptable. My e-mail is gerijim@hotmail.com.) I will report the results in June.

Bylaws Proposed Change

BYLAWS OF SUN LAKES JEWISH CONGREGATION

ARTICLE I

OFFICES

PREAMBLE

WHEREAS, many members of the Congregation choose to reside in Arizona for only a part of the year; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary for the operation of the Congregation to have a President in residence throughout the year;

NOW THEREFORE, these Bylaws recognize the office of Co-President on the following conditions:

The Board of Directors may in its discretion elect two Co-Presidents at the same time as all other officers are elected, one of whom must be a year-round resident within the local area of the Congregation. Any matters concerning the respective responsibilities of the Co-Presidents that cannot be resolved between them will be resolved by a vote of the Board after hearing position statements from both Co-Presidents. Co-Presidents may not be members of the same household.

Each Co-President will (a) have all the duties and responsibilities of the office of President as set forth in these Bylaws during the time that he or she is actively serving; and (b) be referred to in these bylaws as President during his/her time of active service.

Each Co-President may attend all meeting of the Board of Directors, but only one Co-President may serve in the office of President and position of Director at a time.

The Co-Presidents will decide between them as to the time periods each will serve, and they will notify the Board of Directors of such periods in advance. It is anticipated that each Co-President will actively serve for a contiguous and continuous time period.

In the event that a Co-President becomes unable to serve during his or her specified period in office, the other Co-President may elect to serve. If the other Co-President is unable to serve, then the Vice-President will accede to the office of President until such time as one of the Co-Presidents is able to resume service.

The then non-serving Co-President may act in an advisory position. The then-serving Co-President may cast a vote only to break a tie.

Men's Club

Here is a short recap of the speakers for the remainder of this year:

Tuesday May 7, 2019 - Eleanor A. Gobrecht - Retired University Professor, Musician, and World Traveler

Ever dream of leaving it all behind to cruise to Tahiti on your own yacht? Eleanor and her partner Suzanne, both University Professors in their early 40's, did just that in their 30-foot sloop-rigged sailboat accompanied only by her Siamese cat and Suzanne's poodle. Three voyages during the 70's took them over 21,000 miles - as far south as the Galapagos, as far west as New Zealand, and as far north as Papua, New Guinea with many stops along the way. Eleanor invites you to enjoy the landfalls, the close calls, the new cultures, and the ever-changing beauty of the ocean and the lessons they learned along the way. Eleanor holds a B.A., M.A.(Ohio State) and PHD (USC). Unwilling to cut her voyages short, she resigned her professorship and began her sailing adventures. She recently retired from the Mesa City Band in 2016.

Tuesday June 4, 2019 - New Chandler Mayor Kevin Hartke - "What's New in Chandler"

New Mayor Kevin Hartke has a passion for all things Chandler.

Kevin serves regionally on county wide economic development, transportation and human services boards.

Kevin continues in two other roles outside of City Council: a pastor at Trinity Christian Fellowship and extensive engagement with non-profits and causes across our community.

Kevin has been married to Lynne for 37 years. They have four children who all graduated from Chandler High and either ASU/U of A (the family rivalry is real!) and 4 grandchildren.

Mayor Hartke will share what is new in our community, what is happening around town and things you might not know about Chandler!

Please mark your calendar and be sure to join us for these presentations. As always, guests are always welcome. Also, if you know any prospective members, bring them along as well.

Adult Education

THE FILM: "GI JEWS: JEWISH AMERICANS IN WW II" MAY 4th.

This film tells the profound and unique story of the more than 550,000 Jewish men and women who served in WW II. Through their eyes, the film brings to life the little-known story of the Jewish people's active participation in the fight against Hitler's bigotry and intolerance. Trying to save their brethren, they emerged more dedicated in the fight against Facism and more powerfully American and more deeply Jewish.

This movie had its national premiere on PBS last April. Come have your own private showing on May 4th at tthe Village at Ocotillo at the corner of Alma School and Ocotillo from 2-4. Light refreshments will be available free of charge.

Don't miss this very informative and important movie!! Call Gail at 480-802-1832 to let her know you will be attending. Space is limited. See you there!

SRG
LIVING

Our assisted living is accredited for two reasons. You. And your family.

Because having the confidence & peace of mind of accreditation is important. That's why SRG communities are accredited by CARF International. It's an independent organization that sets exceedingly high standards for care and service. It's a lot like an accreditation for a hospital or college. Or a five-star rating for a hotel.

We think you'll find that our accreditation is only one of the many reasons you'll like what you see.
