RABBI IRWIN WIENER

Sitting at the Computer and Wondering

There are so many times I sit at the computer and wonder about things such as the gloom and doom that seems to surround us. I read, listen, and watch the so-called experts ramble on about everything, determining nothing. These same people will twist words to fit their agenda. It seems that honesty is a nasty word signifying nothing.

So, here I sit at the computer, imagining a world filled with wishes and desires that will bring comfort and happiness. Perhaps some are thinking of a world where the streets are safe. Maybe some will dream of contentment, knowing that each day brings beauty and enrichment. There are those who see a planet not self-destructing, or people talking to one another without shouting or recriminations.

Before long I realize that some of what I envision is fantasy, not reality. However, I also believe that hope is necessary for sanity if nothing else. It certainly is good to imagine, but life, while it may contain the aspirations of humanities desires for completion, contains hurt and destruction.

Then doubts set in. Faith seems to be remote, prayer a waste of time. Life seems to be so insignificant with decency and family values ridiculed. Despair sets in and all looks hopeless. Some of us spend a lifetime trying to encourage and fortify, but doubts seem to creep through, and we wonder, "to what purpose." So, if people of faith lose hope, what happens to the rest?

All of us are imbued with spirit and understanding to effectively make the world a better place. There are disappointments and frustrations, but if we attempt to make things right, then that is all we should be satisfied with. I have mentioned numerous times God does not require us to complete the work, but at the same time, we are not free from trying. It is in the trying that we gain the confidence. It is in the trying that we enhance our faith. It is in the trying that we can realize the necessity to join for survival. The frustration comes from feeling that we failed because our expectations are unrealistic.

All the philosophers in the world, both past and present, have concluded (most prominent of which was Spinoza) that there are people enslaved by fortune. They seem forced to trail in the wake of the worst, even though they can see what is better.

Time and again we listen and read about events over which we have no control. Time and again we observe arrogance of such proportions that it, too, becomes reality. The hypocrisy and deceit seem to be normal, honesty and decency the abnormal. Truth is no longer the hallmark of civilized encounters. We now live in a world dominated by "Me," not "We."

What we are witnessing today are the difficulties we are experiencing daily and which are in control of our destiny. The wishes of yesterday are no longer the desires of today. The condition we find ourselves in today was certainly created by us, and if that is so, then we have the power and the ability and the will to change what is into what should be.

Perhaps we should try to attempt to turn this hatred and accusatory rhetoric so that it will match what was written by a young girl, Anne Frank, who was taken from us in the prime of her life: "Think of all the beauty left around you and be happy."

This is what I would love to see as I sit at my computer. Wouldn't you? Perhaps the New Year just ushered in will be the beginning of these wishes coming true. 🕯️

FRIENDS OF ISRAEL

Paul Rockower

Paul Rockower, the Executive Director of the Phoenix Jewish Community Relations Council, will speak on Sunday, October 10 from 3-4:30 p.m. VIRTUALLY via Zoom. (This event was originally to be held in person, but has been changed to virtual only.) His topic will be “Israel’s Public Diplomacy.” We are fortunate to have someone with Paul’s experience working as head of an important local Jewish agency. Reservations are required to get the Zoom link. RSVP to israelsunlakes@gmail.com with "YES" in the email.

Save the Date: On January 16, 2022 at 3:00 p.m., Ginette Weiner and Michael Cohen will speak about antisemitism and untruths about Israel in the international and United States media. The talk is entitled “Media Gives Extreme Makeover to Palestinians Terrorist in Glamorized”.

LONE SOLDIER PROJECT

HIGH HOLIDAYS AND LONE SOLDIERS IN THE IDF

“It is Erev Rosh Hashanah and you’re in Israel, 6,000 miles away from home. It is the first year that you are not having dinner with your extended family at your aunt’s house before going to temple, and you are fondly remembering those evenings with your parents, your brother and your closest cousins. When you made aliyah and joined the IDF as a lone soldier, you knew that holidays would be lonely, but you were willing to make that sacrifice...”

Phoenix native Sara Kalanat Turner, an Avion Tech who served from 2016 to 2018 says, “Giving money to organizations that directly help lone soldiers — not just ones that give to the army in general — is a big help.”

Congratulations and a MAZEL, MAZEL to Havaurah Chai! Time really flies when you are having fun and making new friends. Because of you, we have laughed a little harder and smiled a whole lot more. HAPPY 6th anniversary!

We welcome Senior Jewish Singles to pay us a visit and add us to your social world. We are also guests of the SLJC Temple for Shabbat Services on the 2nd Friday of each month. CO-PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE

GERI GOULD & WENDE LEVY

Well, our new year has begun and we are continuing to make adjustments due to COVID as we go. We were really hoping this would be a non-issue by now, but here we still are. To accommodate, the BOD has made the following decisions (which we will revisit as conditions hopefully change for the better):

At least through December, we will provide live streaming of our services.

All monthly services will still be offered at the Chapel in person on the second Friday night of the month, as usual. Masking will be required.

- Instead of holding our usual Oneg Shabbats, those who attend services will receive a “grab-and-go” treat as you leave the Chapel. This is our new version, delightfully termed “Go-neg.”
- We will still be seeking volunteers (perhaps those of you celebrating birthdays or anniversaries) to accept aliyot, ark openings, or readings.

Furthermore, the BOD has discussed some important policies regarding the Marty Silverman Memorial Campaign. As you know, this fund was started to perpetuate the Sun Lakes Jewish Congregation and ensure that a rich Jewish life congregational life would continue to thrive in the Southeast Valley. One of the ways we have been perpetuating our Yiddishkeit is by reaching out to you all through technology (i.e. Zoom adult education programs, Zoom onegs, services on YouTube, wi-fi connections in the Chapel, and technicians to support these offerings).

As you can imagine, technology is expensive and has caused us to budget and spend more than we had planned because of the length of the COVID surge. Therefore, we have asked the Finance Committee to make recommendations about using some of the money in the Silverman Fund to defray these expenses. The BOD will deliberate and vote on these recommendations at the October meeting, and we will report to you any decisions made. With your help, we hope to continue to grow this fund, now at more than $11,000. New and renewed contributions are encouraged and very much appreciated.

We are delighted to report that we have 17 new members this year. As the year goes on, we hope they will be welcomed into our congregational life and activities:

Cynthia Despain	Susan Kovac
Laura Fiel	Bruce & Barbara Kochman
Lisa & Howard Gershkowitz	Elynn Rubinstein
Caryl Gobel	Vera Stein
Sharon Gobel	Richard Lapkin
Eunice Goldberg	Barry Miller
Karen & Robert Kaplan	Keith Miller

As for now, we’re going with the flow and praying everyone is healthy and takes advantage of any COVID booster shots and flu shots that may be available. Also, please mark your calendars for Tuesday, November 16 at 7:00 p.m. for our Annual Meeting. More details will be listed in next month’s Shpiel. 🕯️

Wendy Feldman-Kerr

I am a third generation New York Life Agent, following in the footsteps of grandfather Ben, father Rich, and uncle Marv. I ventured out west to obtain my Master of Arts Degree in Communication, becoming a New York Life Agent on Groundhog Day 1986, and owning my own firm, The Feldman Agency. As a financial advisor I specialize in personal, business, estate & retirement planning, as well as insurance and investments planning.

With a passionate desire to share my leadership and organizational capabilities, I actively contribute my time and energy to the betterment of my community. I served in various capacities on the Queen Creek Town Council culminating in three terms as Mayor, raising the standard for all citizen leaders. My passion was to provide opportunities for all citizens to get involved in community issues, to commit to improving lives and to take responsibility for shaping their community. I instituted several programs aimed to build community and forge networks between people of different backgrounds.

I also served as Chair of the Phoenix-Mesa Gateway Airport Authority, the Maricopa Association of Governments, the Queen Creek Cultural Foundation, serving also on the boards of the East Valley Jewish Day School and the Sun Lakes Jewish Congregation. On a state level, I served on the Arizona Power Authority and the Arizona Investment Council.

When not at work or volunteering, I can be found with my family enjoying our dogs, cat, horses and mules as well as watching movies, attending theater and traveling.

Geoffrey Garber

Shalom. My name is Geoffrey Garber and I would like to be considered for a position on the Sun Lakes Jewish Congregation board.

I grew up in Cleveland, OH, where I studied both Electrical Engineering and Computer Science and graduated from Cleveland State University. I later obtained an MBA from Baldwin-Wallace College. I worked for 29 years at Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company. I then worked for two years at Rochester Instrument Systems in Sales and Marketing but left the dark side of the force to return to engineering in Albany, NY. After ten years of building wind farm power plants, my wife and I moved to Gilbert, AZ, where I worked for First Solar Corp. building solar power plants. I retired in 2015.

I have no previous experience as a board member of this or other synagogues, but my wife, Lois, and I have always been active members of synagogues. I was a member of Temple Emanu El Reform Congregation in University Heights, OH from Consecration through Bar Mitzvah and high school graduation. Lois and I were married there, and sent our children to religious school through high school graduation. While not a board member myself, I assisted Lois as a board member. We often volunteered to assist at services, dinners, and other social events. We moved to upstate New York and attended services in Saratoga Springs. Since 2010, we have lived in Gilbert, AZ and have been members of SLJC where we have made many friends in the congregation and Men's Club.

SOMETHING YOU MIGHT NOT KNOW

MARTY GLICKMAN

By Murray Siegel

Marty Glickman was a world class sprinter while attending James Madison H.S. in Brooklyn, and as an adult, was a renowned sportscaster. His descriptive narrative allowed radio listeners to “see” the game. Following the recent Tokyo Olympics, a story about Marty that involves sports, politics and racism was remembered.

Marty was born to two Jewish parents who had immigrated separately from Romania, met in New York, married, and settled in Brooklyn after Marty was born in 1917. In 1936, Marty was on the American Olympic track team, one of four sprinters running the 4X100 meter relay who were expected to capture the gold medal. The early days of the track competition were dominated by Jesse Owens, who collected three golds. Adolph Hitler, who attended the track events, refused to shake hands with Owens who was an African-American.

As much as the Nazis derided Blacks, they hated Jews even more. Two of the American 4x100 team were Jewish: Glickman and Sam Stoller. A Nazi official approached Avery Brundage, the leader of the U.S. Olympians, to ask that the Jewish runners be removed, so that Germans would not lose to Jews on the world stage. Stoller and Glickman were replaced by Owens and Ralph Metcalfe, without explanation. They were the only American Olympians who were fit to compete who did NOT participate.

Marty Glickman went on to star in track and football at Syracuse University and served as Marine officer in World War II. In 1998, the U.S. Olympic Committee honored Glickman and Stoller (who was deceased) with a plaque "in lieu of the gold medals they didn't win" in Berlin. Marty retired from broadcasting in 1992 and died following open-heart surgery in 2001. 🕯️

Our assisted living is accredited for two reasons. You. And your family.

Because having the confidence and peace of mind of accreditation is important. That's why SRG communities are accredited by CARF International—an independent organization that sets exceedingly high standards for care, service and safeguards. We think you'll find that our accreditation is only one of the many reasons to take a good look at our communities.
